Fire Extinguisher Training

AIM OF THE COURSE

The course is aligned to a nationally recognized unit of competence TLIF2018A - Operate firefighting equipment and is designed to impart to participants the necessary knowledge and skills to check and operate firefighting equipment in accordance with manufacturers instructions and workplace emergency procedures. The course provides a blend of meaningful theoretical instruction with practical training based on simulated workplace situations.

COURSE CONTENT

This course is based on the requirements outlined in the Australian codes of practice, regulations and safe working systems relevant to the use and checking of firefighting equipment and addresses;

- The chemistry of fire, the effects of different types of material in a fire and the principles underlying the spread of fire
- The different classes of fire, their characteristics and strategies and equipment needed for their extinguishment
- Firefighting techniques, agents and precautions applicable to different classes of fire
- Types of firefighting appliances, equipment and systems, their identifying features, principles of operation and the procedures for their use and basic checking of serviceability
- Relevant OH&S and environmental protection procedures and guidelines
- Typical problems that can occur with firefighting equipment and operations and appropriate action and solutions

Australian Training Management Pty Ltd uses state-of-the-art fire training equipment to give you the most realistic experience possible.
